MADISON.—H. J. Severson, state senator, told Governor Blaine, in a telegram received at the state capitol today, to have "the courage to face an investigation" or "then I submit to you in all honor you should resign from office."

Severson's message was a continuation of a series of messages which have passed between the two since the time Senator Severson, in a talk at Waupaca recently, declared women had been attacked by men in the state capitol building, and payrolls were padded.

Declaring he is willing to appear at any time and submit proof of the charges he made in his Waupaca speech as well as on the floor of the legislature, Senator Severson said:

"No honest official or head of any department has anything to lose by an investigation. In fact, every honest official should welcome one. Again I want to urge upon you the necessity of convening the legislature in order that we may have a house cleaning and fix the blame for conditions which now exist without any further dissipate or quibbling."

STABLEFORD RESIGNS AT WOOLEN MILLS

After having served as assistant manager of the Rock River Woollen Mills plant here for the past four and one-half years, George H. Stableford has resigned to go east where he expects to enter business about Oct. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Stableford and son will move to Janesville shortly after Labor Day and will tour the southern New England states. He has not yet decided what his future line of work will be but is certain of locating in the east.

Mr. Stableford came here from the Yale Woollen Mills, Yale, Mich., and has been instrumental in helping conditions and increasing production of the local plant. He has been a civic leader and a loyal and active member of the Kiwanis club, boasting a record of 100 percent attendance at its weekly meetings throughout his term of membership. The Stablefords have lived at 613 Milwaukee avenue.

Jugo-Slavia Gets Rome Ultimatum

[By ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Rome.—The Italian government has sent an ultimatum to Jugo Slavia, asking that a definite decision be reached concerning the status of Fiume.

It is alleged here that the government at Belgrade is constantly delaying settlement of the situation.

The Italian press says that Premier Mussolini proposed first that Fiume be governed by a mixed Italo-Jugo-Slav commission; second, that this commission entrust the Italian government with the political and administrative management of the city.

[By ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN.—The recent German government, with the exception of the recent Cuno government for the meeting of Germany's reparations obligations, Chancellor Stresemann told the German Industrial Commerce club today.

"For the liberation of German soil, and for our own salvation, it is necessary that we make a pledge of German deliveries after the institution," the chancellor declared; "it would not be too great a sacrifice to offer part of the German economic system as a productive pledge for carrying out Germany's reparations obligations."

If the French government sincerely desires to make a pledge of German deliveries after the institution of the moratorium, we can find a way of reaching an understanding. But no difference must be made between the Rhineland and Ruhr or one hand and the German Reich on the other.

"Germany cannot accept as a basis for a peace with France a demand for even a temporary pledging of the Ruhr or a transfer of the Rhine land railways and industries, or other property in the Rhineland or Ruhr, as suggested by documents 23 and 25 of the French yellow book."

[By ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MADISON.—Jack Galloway, 43, Madison painter, confessed to the murder of Robert Jaeger, Blackhawk hermit on the night of Aug. 2, under questioning in the Sauk county jail at Baraboo at 1:25 p. m. today.

He broke down on the rapid fire of questions about his alleged visit at the home of Mrs. Peter Farmer, 201 East Mifflin street, the night of the murder.

He simply collapsed and told officials there was no use to hold out any longer, and that he had told all that he knew.

He had declared, when first questioned, that he was at the home of Mrs. Farmer between 9 and 11, the night Jaeger was attacked. Mrs. Farmer today denied Galloway had been at her home, so far as she knew, on that night.

Admiral Baron Kato was born in 1859 and had a distinguished career in the naval, administrative and diplomatic circles before he was elevated to the premiership last year.

He understood Foreign Minister Ochiai had called him as prime minister after the funeral. The entire cabinet will then resign and a new one will be chosen under whoever is appointed premier. Among those mentioned prominently for the premiership are Count Gombei Yamamoto, an ex-premier and retired admiral; Governor Denjiro Nomoto; Gov. Saito of Korea and Baron Sankichi Makiino, a member of the house of peers, who has held cabinet portfolios and diplomatic posts.

Superior.—Not meeting the eve of Victor H. Arnold or his wife as they sat at the defense counsel table in federal district court here today at Arnold's trial, on a charge of using the mail in three schemes to defraud Boston L. Buckman, brother of Mrs. Arnold, and others, vice president of the Madison Bond company, of which Arnold was president, testified that he had no authority to sign checks or notes for the Madison Bond company.

He had no authority to sign notes, checks or anything, said Buckman. "I did not have authority to sign checks, did not know the combination of the safe and did not open the safe," he added.

Throughout the questioning of Buckman, which consumed 45 minutes of the morning session, Mrs. Arnold was bowed with a handkerchief in the hands supporting her head.

IN ABSOLUTE CONTROL

Buckman, a state government witness, corroborated previous testimony that Arnold was in absolute control of the Madison Bond Company, hiring all employees, fixing salaries, making loans and purchases and keeping all telephone communications closed to the outside world, out of Madison. Buckman resumed his direct testimony this afternoon.

Cheney L. Parish, trustee of issues 42 to 51, inclusive, of Madison Bond company collateral gold bonds, finished his testimony today, preceding Buckman on the stand.

On the stand, he made a strong protest for the defense by saying curiosities supporting the bond issuer were in a safety deposit box under his care, and that he and Miss Rose Mulvihill, who succeeded him as trustee, and who, although secretary of the Victor H. Arnold company of Chicago, acted as his assistant throughout his illness, had the only key to the box.

EXCHANGED IN THEORY

He did not believe the defendant had access to the box at any time. One of the main points of the government's case is based on an accusation that Arnold caused the securities to be exchanged, although it was advertised as being sold as is.

Arnold, it was charged, profited by asking 26 cents a gallon and who announced that the state would sell it for 16.60 was severely criticized by the Sioux Falls independents, in a statement.

ANOTHER CABINET MEETING CANCELED

Washington.—President Coolidge cancelled today's cabinet meeting—the third he has dispensed with in succession.

The president has had only one meeting with his complete official family, and is said to believe that in the early days of his administration Arnold caused the securities to be exchanged, although it was advertised as being sold as is.

DAKOTA SETTLES ON 15 1-2 CENT GASOLINE PRICE

[By ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sioux City, S. D.—A uniform price of 15 1/2 cents a gallon for gasoline was being charged here today, and similar rates are expected to follow in other sections of the state, despite independent assertions that it would be their "pint."

Throughout the questioning of Buckman, which consumed 45 minutes of the morning session, Mrs. Arnold was bowed with a handkerchief in the hands supporting her head.

The one price followed announcement last night by independent oil dealers here that they would at once meet the figures set by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. Previously oil dealers had asked 20 cents a gallon, as compared to the 15 1/2 cent standard price.

Officials of the association explained that its price was based on individual performances, and that the relay of mail across the continent was more in the nature of a transportation achievement by a number of firms in different places than their regular routes.

The price was recognized by the association because of its aspect as an individual test.

There is no necessity for oil firms to decide, the board members decided, and a 10-cent cut down the expense of actual transportation.

Emerson Elia was chosen legal counsel and business advisor; John Holtan, warehouse and sales manager; Lars Lien, assistant warehouse and sales manager; and Somer Neprud, field manager.

The executive board is in session again today, making plans for the coming year.

It also was voted by the board to adopt no new memberships in the pool for the 1923 crop after Oct. 1.

Is It?

Is the city of Janesville going to abandon its police?

Is it going to pay the dentist bill for Patrick
Stein or let him do it out of his small wage?

Is he to have the record against him wiped out and be paid for the ten days' suspension or must he also stand that?

It is time to get this straightened out.

World Court Makes One Decision.

The first decision of the world court sitting at The Hague refers to the Kiel canal and the use by foreign vessels. The decision was against Germany and in favor of Great Britain. The court decided that the German authorities were not justified in preventing a British steamer from using the Kiel canal during hostilities between Poland and Russia, although the vessel was loaded with munitions from a French company and consigned to the Polish government. Germany held that the act was against her own convention in regard to neutrality, though the Versailles treaty provides that the canal shall be open to the vessels of all nations whether war or merchant. The Berlin government invited the allied nations to take the case before the Permanent Court of International Justice and that court has held that Germany must make compensation in the sum of 140,000 francs for delay caused. A German representative sat on the bench as it is provided shall be the rule when a nation not represented at all times in the personnel of the court, has an issue before it. While not in itself of great importance, the decision is the first to be made and establishment of a rule in reference to one of the mooted questions of neutrality, will have some considerable consequence. It is hard to say just how the matter would have been settled had there not been the ability of the nations to put it before the court. It is interesting, too, at this time, when we are discussing the court and its possible future, as it gives some indication of the operations and reactions of this tribunal.

Belong but Welcomed.

The public of Janesville was gratified Thursday night when it read in the Gazette that the municipal judge of this city was going to make some investigation in the matter of the assault on Patrick Stein, a police officer, and why some other things have not been done or have been done in reference to this affair.

It is to be hoped that the judge will find out what, if any, external influences have been exercised in this case, how far officials were seen before the hearing and what measures were taken,
if any, to bring the offenders to the bar of justice
without regard to sex or position.

side of New York city no one is still reciting "The Face on the Bar Room Floor."

Mellon on Europe.

When it comes to sound financial judgment we believe the public will take the word of Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, a hard headed unromantic person, who deals in figures and balances, rather than of some theorist who spends most of his time delving among cloud castles built of distorted vision. Mr. Mellon, returning from Europe, says he sees no way effective assistance can be given to Europe by America and he is certain that at no time in the past few months would American intervention have done Europe any real good.

Now Mr. Mellon is a man used to visualizing large matters. He has made it possible to handle American finances so that we have neither a de-based currency nor an increasing debt; he has cut the war debt, decreased cost of government by recommendations for economies in large number. And yet he probably could not be elected county treasurer in any community. He is not the type of man elected to office. He has no line of bunk, no bottles of political medicine to cure
everything from the blues to economic tape worm. He goes right along minding his own business and the nation's business, to his and the nation's great credit.

Our able counterfeitors are making less imitation
money and turning to take revenue stamps, whiskey labels and physicians' prescription blanks.

The three great economic questions of the hour are "Where shall we park our car?" "How many miles to the gallon?" "How can we pay the installments on the auto?"

GERMANY'S CAPACITY TO PAY

BY FREDERIC J. HASPIN

Washington.—When the great war ended in victory for the allies, the question as to how much Germany could be made to pay for the havoc she had wrought became immediately the one of engrossing interest to everybody concerned.
It still is. Moreover, it has been debated in parliamentary bodies, in diplomatic exchanges, in conferences and in the public prints for almost five years and it is yet a controversial subject.

Germany's ability or capacity to pay has been confused or lost sight of in arguments as to the amount of reparations that could be demanded in fairness by the allies. Even the amounts that Germany has already paid and should be credited with are by no means definitely ascertainable.

Lord Curzon, for England, has declared a crisis is at hand and that if complete chaos in Europe and possibly throughout the world, is to be averted, allied blockaders over priority rights in settlements and the indemnities to be exacted must cease. The first sans stop to be taken toward world rehabilitation, he points out, must be a determination by an impartial, expert tribunal of how much Germany can pay, and how she can pay it.

JUST FOLKS

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

ENVY.

Time was that a King of the older days,
Disturbed by his fretful clan,

Sent ministers forth, both south and north,
In search of a happy man.

"Go and find a man with his heart content,
Who maketh no wish for more;

Let the search be had till you find one glad,
One glad with his present store."

"You have health," said they, to a woodman taught,

"And so have your children three;

You are blessed, for that is best!"

"I would I were rich," said he.

"You have gold," they said, to a man of wealth,

"You can buy what is ever sold!"

"Yes," said he, "but I'd happier be

With the strength of the woodman bold."

Then they found them a man with a well-filled purse,

"And sturdy and strong was he.

But he said with a sigh: "No child have I,

But the woodman there has three."

They searched them high and they searched them low.

And back to the king they went,

And they said: "No man in this royal clan

Sits down by his free consent."

The woodsmen signs for the rich man's gold

And the rich man vows that he Would give his wealth for the woodsmen's

health,

Or even his children three.

"None thinketh himself by the good Lord blessed."

"But countest his neighbor glad,

And is sure that he would happier be

If the neighbor's joy he had."

"Oh, tell me then," said the sorrowing king,

"You have no dear of rich or poor?"

Where envy was not found?"

There is none who knoweth life's joys complete,

For so do God's blessings fall.

That all art blessed as He deems best,

But none may have them all.

Q. What is the difference between time fuses and percussion fuses?

A. This has been tried from time to time, but usually it is found that the revenues from such a service are not adequate to meet the costs of operation. There are telephone availabilities at frequent intervals as garages, stores and farmers homes, that need for highway telephones is negligible.

Q. Is it possible to tell dyed skin from natural fur?

A. One authority says that if it is were generally known that the dyed skin is whitish, and that the underfur close to the skin is a light brown or pale blue color, it would not be so easy to sell dyed skin as "natural."

"Yes," he returned, with a vigorous nod. "I caught the signal cri-
"Listen," you said, didn't you?
ight. So I listen, and then I make a little plan all on my lonesome. 'The Guv'nor's up to sum-mink,' says I ter me, 'an' I'll lay wants me to tyke him up. And so I ups and takes for the road, and then find the shivverin' machine in this ere little smokin' machine."

"He was there, then, was he?"
"Large as life and twice as nat'- rill. 'Now, then, me lad,' I says ter me, 'git on the right side o' 'im, an'
if you can't sit on the right side, git on the wrong side, so long as yer gits 'im out of 'is seat. But a coupler bob to a Scotsman as big as a legacy, an' all soon puts in 'is stride. Snop along an' wile the town,' says I. Comin' later in the day, wait for me an' address it ter
the Commander-in-Chief of the General Post Office, Lunnon. An' he looks at me an' swallows the gaff like as it were plumdum. I could 'e laughed, sir—strife I could! And I gives 'im the tip ter get a drink, and before I'd finished speaking in, 'e'd done it."

"Good lad! good lad!" Cleek's laugh was merry if low-pitched.
The London address of the telegraph message tickled his sense of humour immensely. "And what did you do then?"
Drove down the road a little just ter keepin' 'em in, and then, when I seen you call out ter the ldy, and know you wuz in danger, sir—why, I slipped in the cluth and come rocketing toward yer n'er-scarst as I could."

"Oho! And you were nearer than the lady had arranged, then?"
Dollons drew a long breath before replying. "Well, sir, and then, when that little distance of a quarter of a mile, right 'e've done for yer entire—An' I wuzn't tykin' no risks," he replied heavily. "An' if anyink was to appoin' to you, sir—
well, it's mo' for the river 'fore you kin' wink an' eyelash. Dollons ain't a-stayin' here wiv you on the upper side of the sky, sir, an' tooty as you myself no' n'ative but that. When you goes, I goes too—if it's to 'eaven or 'ell. An' I'm thinkin' I know the w'y the angels'll tyke you."

"Well, they're not takin' me yet,
dear lad, so don't worry your glinger
head about it!" returned Cleek, with a little gulp of emotion for so staunch an adherent as this fellow of Courtney's who stood before him.
"But I got friends like you and women like Miss Lorne that keep a man straight and strong and true, and don't let him turn down the wrong path instead of the right.
Come, now, there's still more work

TODAY'S RECIPES
Macaroni and Cheese—Cook macaroni or spaghetti in boiling salted water until done. Drain and branch cold water. Make sauce of one tablespoon butter (melted), one tablespoon flour, one pint milk, one-half teaspoon salt, paprika to taste. When boiling put in one cupful cheese cut fine or grated and cook until cheese is melted. Pour over macaroni, stir until well mixed, sprinkle cracker or bread crumbs on top and put in oven to brown.

Fruit Salad—Use crisp lettuce for foundation. Pears, peaches, grapes, all are nice for salads, depending on what you have on hand. The fruit may be cut in small pieces and combined with fruit juice or a sweet dressing or boiled dressing with which fruit may be used. Apples and celeries are always nice served by themselves as a Waldorf salad or combined with fruits or vegetables.

Chili Con Carne—One pound of round steak, one-quarter pound each of dried chili pepper, chili powder, salt, cumin, onion, kidney beans (cooked), bite small onion, two green onions, four, one quart of water. Cut meat in small pieces and toss on a hot frying pan until softened. Add onion cut in thin slices and cook together until onion is light brown. Now add the round steak cut in small oats, but not chopped, and sear on all sides. Add water and simmer over a slow fire until tender. The pepper and cumin should be put in with the water and removed before the other ingredients are added.

Blackberry Pudding—Take one egg, one teaspoon of butter, one tablespoon of sugar, one cup milk, two teaspoons baking powder and flour to thicken. Steam 45 minutes. Sauce for same? One cup sugar and one-half cup butter creamed. When ready to serve mix with one quart crushed berries.

BUYING A HAM
Instead of buying "a piece of ham to broil" and "cooked ham" for lunches and picnic suppers, the homemakers will find it much better economy to buy a whole ham, even if the family is small.

For the larger family, select a 12 or 12-pound ham for the smaller families there are eight and 10-pound hams.

The ham may then be cut as follows: The knuckle for soup, the second cut for baking, two slices for roasting, and the hub for boiling.

Now, does the meat all have to be cooked? Not at all. If you prefer, you can keep it in two thicknesses of heavy paraffin paper, then roll in the cloth covering which usually surrounds the ham when purchased. If put in cool place the ham will keep for several weeks.

Instead of broiling in the usual manner, for a change the two center slices may be cut in one thick section and this baked in milk.

HAY FEVER

Treated at Home

To avoid hay fever entirely, go away for two months. If you can't go, Vicks will help you endure it at home. Keep Vicks in the nostril to protect the membranes. Inhale the vapors of Vicks melted in spoon to clear the head.

A rub with Vicks at bedtime
will often keep away asthma.

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH THOMPSON
Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman 24 years old and I have a baby seven months old. Sometimes I think my life would be perfect if I were not for a disagreeable sister-in-law. She is very young and she thinks she knows everything in the world. She is always telling me what to do and how to do it, especially in regard to the baby. Even when she advises contrary to the doctor's orders she expects me to do what she says and not what he says. I try to be polite and thank her for her advice, but I do as I please because I know usually the very fact that she has told me how to do something makes me want to take another way to do it.

The worst of it all is that when I do not do as my sister-in-law says she goes to my husband and tells him awful things about me. I know he loves me, but at the same time I can see he is influenced by her because he reproves me afterward.

I am so unhappy at times that I feel like going home to my parents until my husband and wife move far enough away so that I won't ever have to see a sister-in-law again.

What would you advise me to do?

JUST A WIFE

Life is not perfection, my dear, and you, are indeed lucky that nothing more serious than the interference of a sister-in-law darkens your horizon.

There is only one thing for you to do and that is to stay where you are and get along with your sister-in-law as tactfully as possible. Your idea of silence is a good one. When reason tells you your sister-in-law's suggestion is good, tell her her advice is sensible. When you feel she is wrong, do not dispute her, but do as you consider right.

TRY TO BE SOOTHED WITH THE NATURAL CURE OF EVELYN AND DO NOT Rush matters. Time and time only will reveal your fate. Just be yourself and forget about love as far as possible.

In your talks with your husband get about love as far as possible.

"Nor I managed to deceive her," answered Patterson, in high glee. "I stood in the hall an hour, delivered a lecture on civic righteousness, told a bedtime story and sang three grand opera selections. She thought she had forgotten to turn on the radio loud speaker."

"The two spiritualists met at lunch. How was the service last night?" asked one.

"A great success. Miss Hokus materialized Napoleon Bonaparte, Marie Antoinette and Julius Caesar."

"Quite a distinguished gathering."

"Yes, and I was not aware until after the service that all three could speak English fluently." Birmingham Age-Herald.

A RED NOSE

One of the most hopeless of facial troubles is a red nose. Usually it is due to some digestive disorder and can best be cured by the following treatment:

First of all, take an enema, then for several days take castor oil as a laxative. Next, purify the blood on a diet eliminating animal, heavy, rich, indigestible foods. It would be a good thing to stop eating meat, potatoes, cakes, cooked puddings, candy and food drinks for a week or so, as these are all hard on the digestion.

Meanwhile make sure your clothing is loose, and that neither corsets or stockings are tight enough. In fact, the blood is congested.

The roses on your birthday and all of the other attentions would indicate that the young man is deeply interested in you. Also massage and tap it with the finger tips. This makes it more red for the time being, but after the blood and will cure the congestion.

Here is a well recommended ointment of this trouble:

OINTMENT FOR RED NOSE
Powdered sulphur..... 1 drachm
Powdered starch..... 1/2 ounce
Zinc oxide ointment..... 1/2 ounce
Perfumed oil..... 6 drops

This makes a fairly large sized jar. Use half the quantity unless a red nose is chronic.

There are some few cases where a red nose is not due to digestive trouble, but to varicose veins in the small veins near the nose. The blood congests and does not circulate freely. Tight nose pieces on eyeglasses are responsible for much disfigurement.

The only thing to do in such a case is to steam the nose, then massage and tap it as directed, extending the treatment well over the forehead and the cheeks.

Try to be soothed with the natural cure of Evelyn and do not rush matters. Time and time only will reveal your fate. Just be yourself and forget about love as far as possible.

In your talks with your husband get about love as far as possible.

He will be glad to mail you a formula for the lashes and brows if you send me a stamped addressed envelope. Massage the scalp every day until you feel the invigoration from the oil and the circulation often improves.

It is improved if not corrected entirely by a healthy circulation.

Mrs. O.—It would be well for you to seek for the formula covering this subject of caring for the bust. In the meantime dash cold water over it several times each day, following this with slight friction from a coarse towel. As you have used these drying preparations, it will take a little more time for the bust to recover.

A MISSOURI JOY RIDER

A snake for a passenger was a unique experience of Joe Neal Patterson, a Seneca man, few days ago. He alighted from his car to kill the snake, which was crawling into the rear window. The young son of E. G. Robertson was playing. The snake retreated when he attacked it with a stick, going to the car, crawling upon the hood and had secreted itself somewhere on the inside of the car. Mr. Patterson broke all speed records getting to a service station, keeping his feet on the seat and his eyes on the floor of the car—his steering he trusted to his hands.

LATEST MARKET REPORT

GRAIN

Chicago Review.—Higher quotations at Liverton and the recent good demand for choice wheat have had a tendency to bring prices higher during the early dealings. Buying by commission houses was general at the start. Weakness in the corn market, however, brought a slight market undercut, a slight easing off. Opening prices which varied from unchanged figures to 1% advance, with December 40¢ to 5¢ advance, and May 110¢ to 110¢, were followed by a slight general decline.

Predictions of frost in parts of the northwest and parts of lower brought about a recovery and the finish was strong, at gains varying from 1% to 3%, with Dec. 41¢ to 41¢, and May 111¢ to 111¢.

Liquidation of the September delivery of corn gave weakness to that grain at the outset. After opening 15¢ to 20¢ lower, Dec. 45¢ to 45¢, the corn market underwent a slight further setback and then recovered a little.

Buying by previous sellers later brought a slight reaction, the September delivery being erratic while the deferred months were strong. The close was unsettled, prices ranging from 3¢ to 18¢ higher, with Dec. 45¢ to 48¢, and May 110¢ to 115¢.

Outs followed corn, starting unchanged to 1% of Dec. 40¢ to 40¢ and holding close to the initial range.

Provisions reflected the strength in wheat and hogs.

FINANCE

Wall Street Review.—New York stocks were somewhat taxed at the opening of today's stock market, with most of the usual leaders pointing upward. Some of the specialists continued yesterday's action, notably Krayser, Updegraff and DuPont up.

Speculative interest concerning the reason for the eager buying, some reasons considered being the mounting of the common stock, climbing a point to 153, a new top for the year. Prices of the preferred issues also went higher, the rest of the day's action being upward.

St. Paul preferred American and Baldwin Locomotives, Mack Truck, Gulf States steel gaining 1 to 1 1/2¢. Foreign exports continued to rise, the market being little affected by the downward movement of the gold market.

The early set is made and the harvest of this portion has started.

The northern and sufficient moisture assures the finishing of the medium

with the very late set having a good chance barring frost.

There is a general lack of the latter, but the market is still strong, up to 30 cents and a little better. While much riding is done in the southern sections, and many lookers having contract books in their pockets, no report of sales reaches us.

CITY LEAGUE MEN WILL BE ALLOWED TO JOIN CIRCUIT

BUSY MAN — "I TALK this is a swell place. It ought to be the city's playground." So said A. E. Bergman, physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., upon his visit with the writer to Riverside Park, owned by the city. It was the first time "Bergie" had seen the park in over a year and the first time he had given it more than a casual "once-over." "We'll look at that sandy beach, and the 'X' man. They could have a pool with a wooden platform along that and make it safe for every bather of every age, and at little expense. They could put up bath houses and make this a wonderful place. Why, if this were in Chicago it would be made the most beautiful spot down there. My what possibilities there are here. Why, even here, so isolated along the lake, in front of the blues) could be placed a fine track and the city could have its annual field day here. It is the natural place. They may have to fix up the road approach, but that could be made a beautiful drive."

THE COUPLE of us started down the shore. Our trip was for the purpose of inspecting the park and as to the possibilities of holding the state swimming carnival there, but two bends in the river and the fact that there are some stumps and the channel is a bit shallow, made it impossible to do so this year, much. Bergman wanted to do it because of the wonderful space and wide stretch to give the spectators the finest kind of a view. Lack of docking facilities of any kind, nothing having been done on the park since its purchase some months ago, also put the proposition out of mind in favor of Goose Island. Bergman emphasized boat and canoe clubs' possibilities and talked of holding a big water carnival.

UP THE RIVER a bit, we climbed the hill and came upon a view of a bend in the river that is beautiful. "Why looks at this," remarked Bergman in enthusiasm. "This spot could make a great ski site. You could build up here for 40 feet and shoot down there and all right off into the river. Let's have that in mind for winter. Great. And in the summer it might be fixed for a slide into the water. Gee, it's fun to slide down into the river. And say, look back there. What a wonderful golf link that would make a marvellous links. This would be a bird of a course, and in a marvellous spot and it could be made into a great playground." Just take a trip to the park and dream just as "Bergie" did, thinking of the great value it may be made to the folks of Janesville and Southern Wisconsin.

WALWORTH COUNTY

ELKHORN

MRS. GRANT HARRINGTON.

Elkhorn—William Edward Nelson, Jr., Delavan, and Marie Jingle Collins, Chicago, have applied for a license. They will be married in Delavan Saturday, and Judge Edna Turner will tie the knot, so the application states.

The date for the county school board's convention has been set for Nov. 20. The meeting will be held annually in the court house. Miss Helen Martin, county superintendent, is chairman of arrangements.

The Kewanee club band, Thursday evening, was an unusually interesting affair, it was tendered Miss Cobb and Percy Webster, two members who are about to leave for California. There were addresses by local members and fountain pens were presented to each of the two members as souvenirs.

People appreciating that the fine evenings for open air concerts are nearly gone, rallied large numbers to hear the Holton band, which gave some striking new pieces—the descriptive Orth composition, "In a Clock Store," being the most popular. The band, too, was "up in the Dark," or "Sometime," brought continued interest and like the summer crowds, would not be content until it gave "Stuttering" and "I've No Money." The band has enjoyed an extraordinary season and each program of the season has been played in full. Mr. J. C. Charlton, the violinist, will play with the German next Wednesday night, the last of the series. The band's repertoire is extensive and they have a number of manuscript compositions.

Other members of the band, who come from Milwaukee, Janesville, Beloit and other distant places will be amply repaid if they come on Aug. 26.

Organized in 1911, the band has been a continuous organization ever since, taking its part in the development of Wisconsin, serving through the civil war and like problems, and has political complexion of the '80's. The present roster of the band includes five ex-army and navy bandmasters, also men who have played in the Sousa, Innes and Poyer bands.

New Cashier at Bank.

It is announced that Leon Piper, of the First State Bank, will become Elkhorn's 31, and enter the State bank of Elkhorn as cashier. Mr. Piper has been with the Delavan bank for a number of years and is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. John Piper, resides in Elkhorn.

FRANCE PLANS TO PAY DEBT TO U. S.

Negotiations With America Indicated in Poincare Statement.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1923 by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington — Premier Poincare's note to Great Britain is exactly what the United States government expected. This does not mean that officials here approve of the French line of reasoning but they are inclined to agree with the French premier that no good purpose is served by discussion from the house tops of the intricate problems of reparations. In other words, an open demand by Great Britain could not have been accepted by Poincare without committing political suicide. To yield to Great Britain in the face of the whole world would have been humiliating. That is why considerably more important than adherence to the old line in M. Poincare's note suggesting that the negotiations be continued with more discretion and less publicity.

Although the United States is more or less an innocent bystander in the exchange of notes between Great Britain and France, there is no escaping the direct references to America's past financial judgment of Europe. Naturally, there is disappointment here that the French should have gone so far as to say publicly that while the war debt to America would be paid, payments would not be begun until Germany began paying reparations.

Premier Poincare's note has determined, independently of drawing up an agreement with the United States to pay the debt. It will be in a sense a recognition of the existence of the debt and an answer to the criticism which has been leveled at France to the effect that she has never formally acknowledged her war debt but only the contributions indicated through some of her statesmen as for instance M. Loucheur, that her debt would be paid.

Premier Poincare's statement that the forthcoming negotiations with America are intended to bring about a definite agreement to pay was noted here with interest in the exact words of the French premier.

"We wish to pay our debts, both our debts toward the United States and our debts toward Great Britain. We can not accord preference to one or the other. We can not therefore bring about a solidarity with Germany for the payment of the debt of France to the United States."

"We can not, on the other hand, abandon our whole share of bonds for partial settlement of the inter-allied debts. We should in any case be obliged to come to an agreement in advance with the government of the United States, which also being our creditor has interest in seeing that our financial position is not made worse."

American's Attitude.

The interpretation of the foregoing heard today is that France believes America can exert pressure to force France to pay her debts before Germany reparations are forthcoming, and that America will not fall in with the English plans for closer relations with Germany which might hinder the reconstruction or productivity of France.

The American position is quite simple. To the extent that France declares reparations must be settled apart from the question of inter-allied war debts, the United States is in nearly as hard a position as Poincare. But in withholding making an agreement to pay the United States until payments are actually received from Germany is, in the opinion of reasonable people here, an utterly untenable theory of fair dealing as between debtor and creditor. America asked no questions of France when she accepted the original terms. No strings were attached. Three billion dollars were furnished by the American people through Lib-

British Service Faster and Better than U. S. Says Bolton After Visit.

French loan drives and no French official said anything about paying it back only when Germany would recover sufficiently to pay after Germany does not sit well in official quarters. The British made their agreement without saying anything about getting income from Germany or France or any other countries owing her money. The French capacity to pay America apart from any payments that may come to France from Germany is the only factor that congress is likely to consider in the question of funding of the French debt is debated there. And there is a growing opinion here that the French can pay their debt to America irrespective of Germany's ability to pay France. Should the French effort be to involve the United States into a situation where the American might be expected to exert pressure on Germany to compel her to pay France or Great Britain the sums which America is expecting to get from France and Britain, that effort is doomed to failure.

Cannot Be Forced.

It has been tried too often in diplomacy, however, and having been met by the Wilson and Harding administrations with a flat rejection and the same answer is assured from President Coolidge. He will undoubtedly follow the convictions of Secretary Hughes who favors the policy of separating war debts from reparations and of having the latter settled independently of the United States.

Rural Carriers Laud Convention

Two additional members from Rock county make the membership of the Wisconsin Association of Rural Letter Carriers exactly 1,000, says H. A. Palmer, carrier of rural route 3, who has just returned from the state convention in Milwaukee. The total number of Wisconsin carriers now is 1,000, and the membership in this country,

Mr. Palmer, president of the rural carrier system of Rock county; Harry W. Womack, president of the County carriers' association, and Charles Easgear, Evansville carrier, attended the convention which was held at the hotel and afterward three addresses were made interspersed by concerts by the Milwaukee City Chorus band.

"There was considerable discussion about the Hatchett bill, now dead, but which we hope to revive in the future. It has to do with appropriations to rural carriers for upkeep of their means of transportation. Ever since the establishment of the system carriers have had to furnish their own means of transportation and keep them at their own expense, which amounts to over one-third of their salary.

A representative to the national rural carriers' convention at Louisville, Ky., Sept. 18, was appointed.

British Cotton Mills Facing Hard Times

Oldham, Lancashire — The British cotton trade is dull, and shareholders in Lancashire spinning mills are having hard days.

Time was when these fortunate manufacturers could turn out a product to 50 percent with reasonable regularity, but today a list of 74 mills shows these concerns facing losses, on capital and profit and loss accounts, of $50,000,000.

To offset this situation an effort is being made to develop cotton spinning within the empire.

Weekly Wage Delights

British Immigrants

Pittsburgh — Immigrants into the Pittsburgh district are astonished at the prosperity of the country, and easily do not take into account the income bills fail to meet their expenditures. One man who settled in Ambridge, the bridge manufacturing town on the Ohio river, declared recently that with his savings for a year in Europe he could purchase a hat, suit of clothes, and a pair of shoes while in Ambridge he had outfit himself from head to foot with his savings of one week.

Attends Memorial Service

"While in London I took the opportunity to attend a memorial service.

ice to the late Walter Hines Page, American ambassador to England during the war at Westminster Abbey, July 3, was the most impressive service I ever attended. Four of the finest voices in England were heard in the choir and the ceremony and ritual of the Abbey was remarkable in its solemnity and dignity."

Mr. Bolton sailed from Southampton Aug. 8 on the S.S. "Olympic" and arrived at New York, Aug. 15. He traveled by rail each way but found the voyage over more pleasant than the return.

"There were many more foreigners on the return trip," continued Mr. Bolton, "and the passengers were not so congenial as they were on the way over. There were Poles, Germans, French, English, Russians and Jews. The ship was crowded in second and third class. One girl from Poland was very distressed on reaching New York and finding that she must return to her native country because of the immigration laws."

City News Briefs

Judgment for $200—John Higgins was granted judgment for $200 against the Cunard liner "Aquitania." Mr. Bolton spent seven days at sea on the liner, returning to Janesville the next day. The ship is 901 feet in length and is manned by a crew of 1,150 men. Passengers numbering 2,200 may be accommodated, making a total of 4,200 persons which is almost as large as the city of Monroe.

Han Enjoyable Voyage

"We were fortunate in riding a smooth ocean all the way over," said Mr. Bolton. "The voyage was exceptionally enjoyable and I became acquainted with some fine people. After a day or so at sea some one started some deck sports and we all participated in the races. A collection was taken for some cheap prizes and succeeded in winning a cigarette case."

Cow Suit Involved.—The sale of a cow was involved in the suit brought by Frank Fisher against W. A. Dean Avadon, testimony in which was heard by Judge H. L. Maxfield in municipal court Thursday. E. H. Ryan and L. A. Avery were the attorneys.

Search for Dog—Police are making efforts to locate a dog lost by Dr. W. F. Meyer, Chicago, connected with the Windy city police department. The canine jumped off a baggage car in Janesville while enroute from Chicago to McFarland, wearing a black and white puppy coat six months old, has four white feet and wore a black harness and an express tag.

NOT ENOUGH TO GO AROUND

The doctor was holding a clinic examining children of school age. One youngster, aged six years, was under weight. The doctor began to make inquiries as to diet, and the following dialogue took place: "You don't drink milk?"

"None."

"Live on a farm and don't drink milk at all?"

"None, we ain't got hardly enough milk for the hogs," Prairie Farmer.
